

Visiting celebrities and dignitaries

Visiting celebrities and dignitaries can expect to be photographed or filmed during their official duties. However, it is polite to warn them, when arranging the visit, about the possibility of being photographed or filmed. The following wording may be used as a postscript in correspondence.

Please note that the College may mark the occasion of your visit by commissioning photographs or recordings. These may be used in College publications or on the website. They may also be circulated to the media and made available to other interested parties. If you have any questions about this, please contact [name, job title].
